"Same to You and All Your Family."
Some years ago there lived in the "Old North State" two men who had been great friends, but who had "fell out," and refused to speak to each other. One day they met by chance in Raleigh, the county town, and Sheriff H., a mutual friend prevailed on them to "make friends" and shake hands. After this, all hands repaired to the nearest saloon to drown all recollections of the unpleasant affair, and, just as the glasses were raised, Sheriff H., who was a man of stentorian lungs, stormed into the ear of farmer L. (one of the reconciled, and who was as deaf as a post), "Hold on, Mr. Lilly—Mr. Penny (the other reconciled) is going to drink a toast."

The glasses were held in position to be tipped at the proper moment, when Mr. Penny, thinking to have some sport at the expense of his deaf neighbor, said: "Here's wishing you were in hell, you old scoundrel!" Old man Lilly was not to be outdone in politeness, and though he had not heard a single word uttered, he replied at once: "The same to you, Mr. Penny, and all your family."

This created such a laugh among the by-standers that explanations had to be made to old man Lilly, and instead of the breach being closed between the two, it was made wider. But "the same to you and all your family," is still a well known reply in that locality.
